Background & Mission: Began in 1995 as community of young adults with cancer. 501(c)(3) nonprofit that “strives hard to make a difference for young adults with cancer by helping them find each other to freely address issues & feelings unique to peer group- . . . that age between ‘pediatric’ and ‘geriatric’, where no one knows whether to give you a lollipop or have a serious talk about your fiber intake, . . . a place to share insights, explore our fears, laugh with others who just plain get it, . . . where the dark side of illness and death is not denied, but where it is firmly believed that laughter & light can turn up in the strangest places.”

Cherrywood neighbor, Heidi Schultz Adams has written & published a book entitled Here and Now, giving others a poignant look into this world.

Goal: bring young adults with cancer together, online and face to face, to celebrate life and laugh in the face of illness
